

A HANDY GUIDE TO THE MUST-DO HIKE BY STATE

Paris 10 Places to Lock Lips in the City of Lights

By Rowena Carr-Allinson | Posted March 9, 2016

74 SHARES Facebook Twitter Pinterest Save

In most cities, PDA would be frowned upon, but in Paris, it's rather encouraged. If you're heading to the City of Love, fear not, as the French are quite used to this sort of behavior.

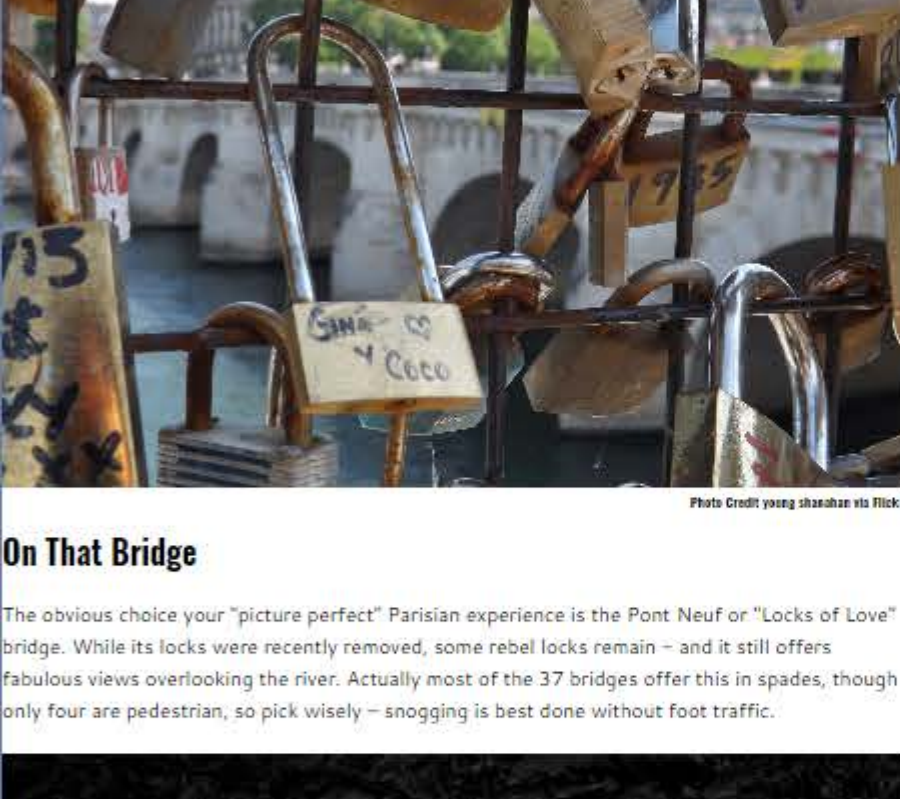

On a Terrace

Paris is packed with terraces where you can enjoy a glass of wine while watching the world go by.

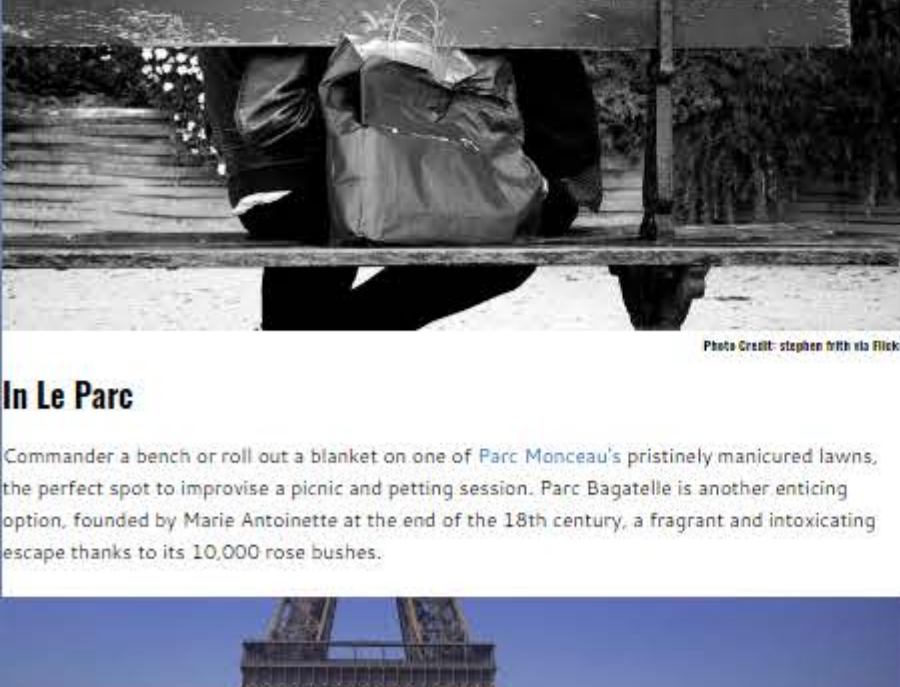

On the Big Wheel

Operating from November through February, if you're in town in winter, the Wheel is one of the finest places to cuddle up and look out over the city.

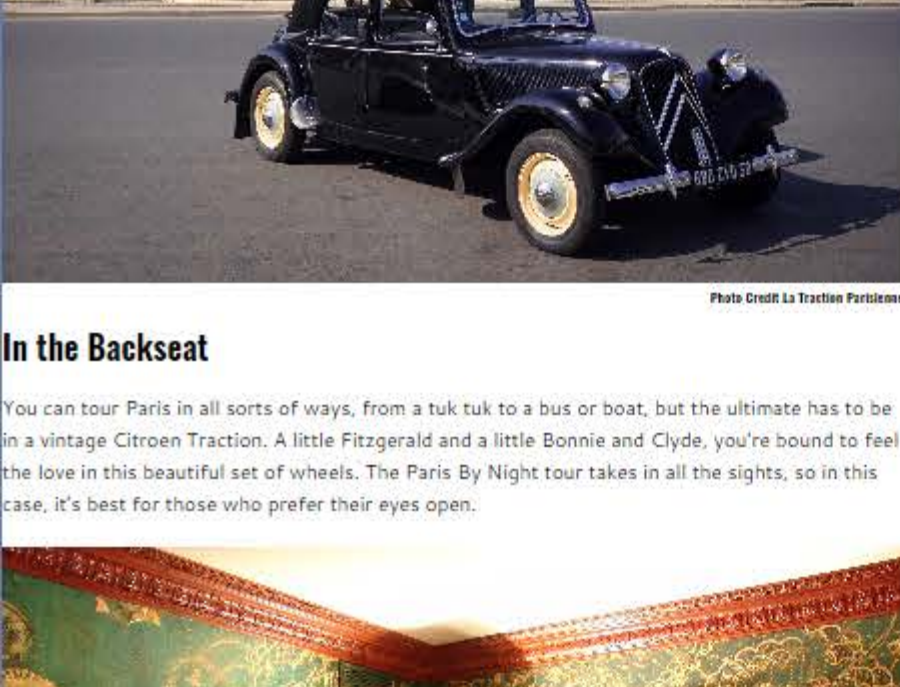

On That Bridge

The obvious choice your "picture perfect" Parisian experience is the Pont Neuf or "Locks of Love" bridge.

In Le Parc

Commander a bench or roll out a blanket on one of Parc Monceau's pristinely manicured lawns.

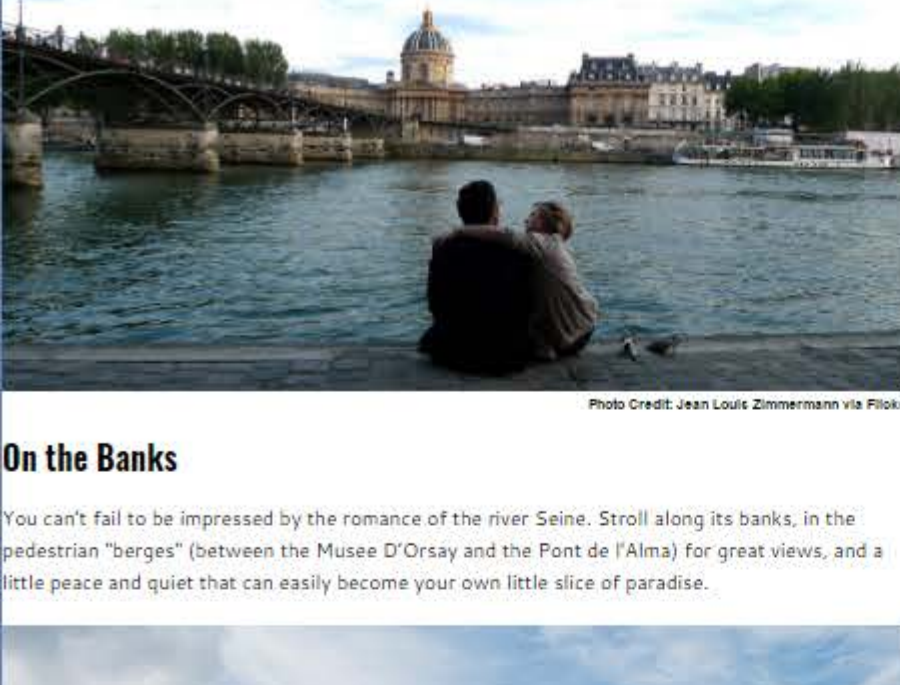

In the Backseat

You can tour Paris in all sorts of ways, from a tuk tuk to a bus or boat, but the ultimate has to be in a vintage Citroen Traction.

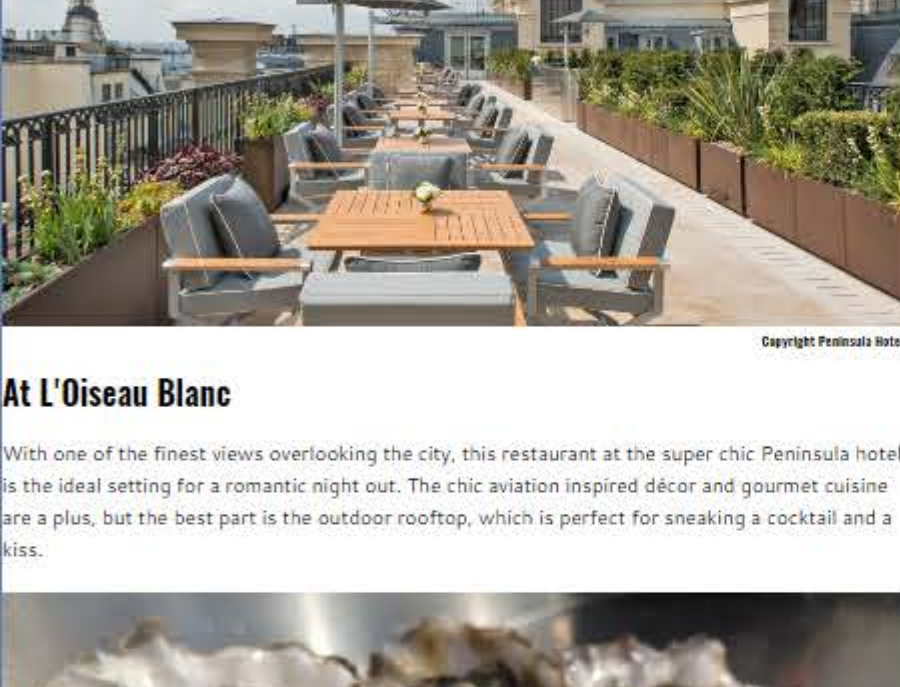

At 'L'Hotel

One of Paris' best-kept secrets, this gem of a hotel is as sexy as it is sophisticated.

On the Banks

You can't fail to be impressed by the romance of the river Seine. Stroll along its banks, in the pedestrian "berges" (between the Musée D'Orsay and the Pont de l'Alma) for great views.

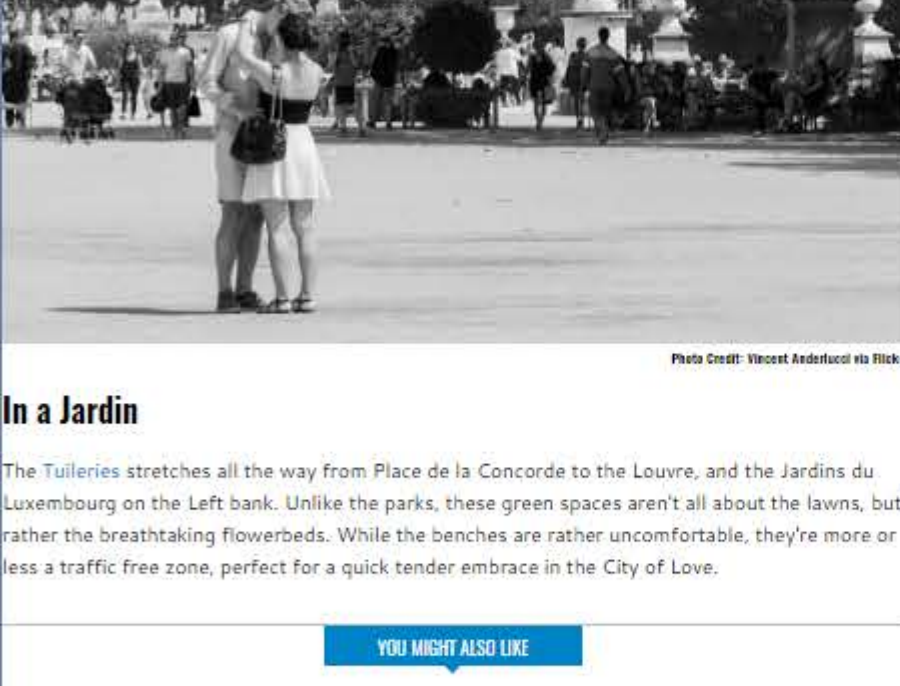

At L'Oiseau Blanc

With one of the finest views overlooking the city, this restaurant at the super chic Peninsula hotel is the ideal setting for a romantic night out.

Over Oysters

Parisian pavements are gleaming with their wares - mostly oysters and shellfish glistening on ice (in season from September to December).

In a Jardin

The Tuileries stretches all the way from Place de la Concorde to the Louvre, and the Jardins du Luxembourg on the Left bank.

YOU MIGHT ALSO LIKE Paris The Top 5 Macaron Shops in Paris Paris Eat Your Way Around the World Without Leaving Paris Paris Spotlight: the Charming City of Paris

ABOUT THE AUTHOR Rowena Carr-Allinson I have written for everyone from the Guardian to the South China Morning Post...

Join 100k like-minded travelers by subscribing to iExplore JOIN WITH EMAIL

Editor's Top Picks Australia This is What You've Been Looking For: Australia's Incredible Pink Lake